DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-11 are cancelled. Claims 12-13 are withdrawn from consideration. Claims 14-20 have been added.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 14-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gil et al. '513 in view of Clendenin '000.

Gil et al. discloses or inherently teaches all of the limitations of the claims except the specifics of the network configuration.

Clendenin discloses a similar network system and further teaches the specific hardware associated with the network.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Gil et al. to use specific types of hardware to make up the network system, in view of Clendenin, in order to allow small-to-medium sized businesses into the network while keeping costs low (See, for example, Clendenin, paragraphs [0011-0014]).

Re claims 15-20: the limitations associated with the claims would have been obvious design choices to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention as these limitations are coherent with normal and well known business practices to produce a desired result.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 12/5/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that Gil et al. does not teach a customer focus team system that performs administrative services for the contract manufacturer system on behalf of the manufacturing entity. Gil et al. teach that the network system may include for each partner, a subsystem which is physically located at the partner's site; whereby the subsystem allows integration of the diverse partner domains with the enterprise domain (See, for example, Gil et al., paragraph [0050], last few lines). It is well known that a business entity's "diverse" domains may include the administrative staff. The "administrative services", as claimed, are well known services performed by entities in business.

The applicant further states that the Examiner has not given proper motivation for the combination of Gil et al., and Clendenin. The motivation provided in the first Office Action is deemed sufficient. However, in response, the Examiner has provided additional motivation clearly taught by Clendenin.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).
